Mobile Data Collection with B-Net mobile HR

Mobile time recording of working hours - exactly when and where they are due. This is the great benefit of a mobile time recording via cell phone, BlackBerry or PDA. Integrate your employees' working hours and services rendered promptly into your business processes using mobile data collection.

B-Net mobile HR is a solution by Kaba fulfilling all requirements of mobile time recording. Due to the compatibility of the functionalities with our access terminals as well as the software applications of our partners, mobile data collection can be integrated easily in new or existing time & attendance and ERP systems.

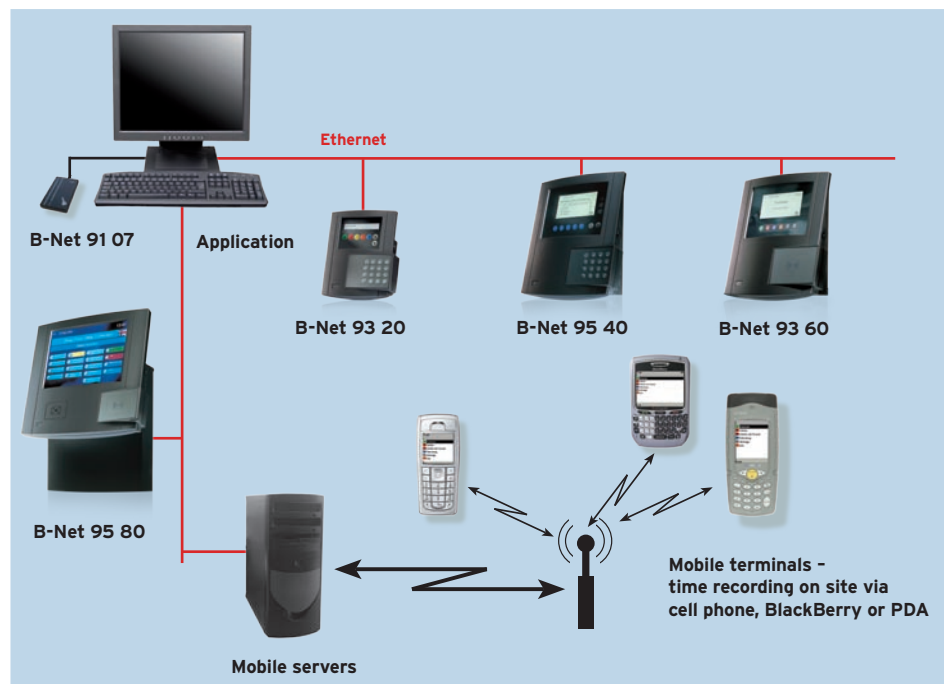

Your employees benefit from the maximum convenience and flexibility: Start and end of the business-related activities can be booked by the employees electronically via mobile devices directly on site. The time recording works identically as on a terminal. In addition to in/out bookings, bookings with a reason can be made, for example service type, doctor, flexitime or vacation.

Enquiry functions are also available. An employee can obtain information, for example, about time accounts and leave days. The registration process can be parameterized freely on the mobile device in order to obtain an individual solution.

The time bookings are recorded either online or offline depending on the requirements. The data collected is transmitted from the PDA directly to the application via WLAN, GPRS, UMTS or a docking station, and updated master records are retransmitted and saved.

If the network is not available, the PDA saves the bookings offline and matches them immediately after the network connection has been reestablished.

The use of the new B-Net mobile HR solution provides numerous benefits to your company: Realization of a uniform and overall time & attendance solution, transparency and up-to-date representation of all time events, use of current working hours documents as control instrument, and last but not least cost reduction due to time savings.
